Mock Interview Scorecard: Interviewer Job Aid

More Than a Toolbox of Technical Skills

Interviewer: _____ Interviewee: _____ Round: ☐ 1 ☐ 2

Resume entry probed: _____

How to Run It (~7 minutes, then swap)

- Pick one entry on the Interviewee's resume. Start with the Technical question; it's the natural opener.
- Keep asking probing questions until all four dimensions are checked. Write what they said as fast as you can.
- Write first, sort later: keep one running record, then tag each passage L, B, I, or T in the margin once it's clear which dimensions it covers. One answer often covers several.
- Record a complete enough account to discuss it with the hiring committee at the end of the day. A real interviewer may bring a page like this for each of 5-6 items in one interview, with the extra page as a backup in case an item turns out to have too little scope. Nobody keeps that many narratives in their head without detailed notes taken in the moment.
- If you keep hearing "we," ask: "What did you specifically do?"
- Leadership often comes through without being asked. Check it once their answers show initiative and ownership.
- Observers: note what the two players are too busy to see, and share it at the end of the round.

Dimension	Probe question	Listen for
Technical	"What did you do?"	The task or the thing they built
Business	"Why did it matter?"	The value, with a real number wherever they can put one on it
Interpersonal	"Who did you work with?"	Who they built it for, deployed it with, or trained
Leadership	"How did you own it?"	Initiative that turned the plan into reality and made it stick; ownership verbs ("led," "developed"), not "helped with"

Observations

Covered: L ☐ B ☐ I ☐ T ☐ Check each once the record shows it.

L/B/I/T	What They Said (their words, not your opinion)

Debrief: what was hard about asking, listening, and writing at the same time? That's the skill.

 © 2026 William Docter, CC BY 4.0